SMR Global Supplier Manual - Additional Customer Specific Requirements

Scope of this document

The scope of this document is to ensure compliance to customer requirement by sub-suppliers of SMR Automotive who are supplying for any Mazda project. This document is listing requirements for these suppliers in addition to standard IATF16949 requirements and in addition to standard SMR requirements.

Responsibility

Suppliers who are supplier for SMR of a component for a Mazda product shall meet all requirements listed in this document during the whole project lifetime. This includes but not limited to:

- Regularly check for updates of this document on www.smr-automotive.com
- Ensure availability and awareness of related Mazda standards and requirements mentioned in this document
- Ensure requirements are met in their supply chain

1. Control of Subcontractors' APQP Status

SMR shall ensure that all relevant subcontractors implement quality assurance activities or equivalents in accordance with APQP requirements, and shall monitor the subcontractors' APQP status.

2. Control of Quality Records and Retention

Suppliers shall establish a system in which electronic quality record can be easily searched and promptly retrieved upon request by Mazda.

Suppliers shall establish an appropriate retention method and environment in order to prevent deterioration of the quality records

2.1 Retention Period

Suppliers shall retain the quality records according to the retention period specified in next Table.

The retention period starts from the date when the quality records are created or received.

The quality records related to product liability cases or recalls shall be retained until the concerns are closed even after the retention period has expired.

2.2 Disposal of Quality Records

After the retention period has expired, the quality records shall be disposed under illegible condition.
